Description

"Inspiration exists, but it has to find you working"... These well-known words, attributed to Picasso, aptly encapsulate the Altanza spirit. In our estate, the 160 ha vineyard and 50 ha olive grove are carefully managed throughout the year.

Our Organic Extra Virgin Olive Oil is a natural product obtained specifically by physical (non-mechanical) procedures that include cold pressing. It is aromatic and fine, so it is recommended to eat it raw or use for dressing vegetables and salads.

This magnificent 100% Arbequina oil has been produced in our VALVARÉS FINCA, located near Galilea, La Rioja, an area with a very characteristic microclimate and a fundamentally silty soil, ideal for the cultivation of the olive grove. For respect for the environment, in our farm we do not use chemical fertilizers, herbicides, or any product that generates toxic waste, which has earned us the certification of "Organic Extra Virgin Olive" with the Organic Farming Registry RI-145-P, that authorizes us to use this denomination and the seal of the European Community of Control Systems of Organic Agriculture.

We are producer of canned vegetables, from the beginning we have never known our activity to be anything but sustainable. We follow the tradition, making the most of the horticultural practice of subsistence and respecting the natural environment created by previous generations. The production practises that we use are those of organic farming, meaning that we use crop rotation and take care of the land without using chemical herbicides or pesticides. This makes our crops low in production but extremely high in quality and tasty as well as healthy. we carry out the whole process of production, collection of raw materials and preparation of our tinned food, following the seasons and the natural rhythms of nature, once obtain the raw material, the next step is to transform these products using a traditional packaging method, a manual one. Therefore all our preserves are made by hand, avoiding the use of chemical products which can alter the taste of the contents. In this way we obtain natural products with their unique flavours and a guarantee of offering a healthy option.

Our products are aimed at all business sectors, but due to their gastronomic characteristics the particular gourmet is the one who comes to our place of production to make their purchases. Other marketing channels are shops, delicatessen and traditional markets, and also in the menu of many top restaurants.

Description

The Extra Virgin Olive Oil from Viña Ijalba comes from traditional olive groves with ages over 200 years. It is made basically with the Arbequina variety, which has a very good fat yield and brings great quality to the oil. It is one of the most recognized varieties of La Rioja.

Olives from our olive groves are processed immediately after harvesting with the most modern techniques and equipment for maximum oil quality

This quality is guaranteed by the Protected Designation of Origin (PDO) La Rioja Oil, which ensures strict compliance with the regulations that can guarantee an excellent oil. Thus an oil is achieved that stands out for a light sweetness and bitterness, with a high presence of fruity flavors and aromas, reminiscent of fresh and green grass.

It is ideal to accompany the toast in the morning, dress salads, vegetables and raw food or to top off the plate of a baked fish.
