The EU-China Business and Technology Cooperation Fair has, for several years, fostered communication and collaboration on not just economic and technological issues, but cultural and social ones as well. Workshops, networking sessions, and cultural events provide opportunities for European and Chinese participants to become acquainted with each other's cultures. This has been crucial in establishing mutual trust and respect between the two regions, laying the groundwork for additional cooperation and exchanges across numerous spheres.

The negotiation area dedicated to specific countries is accessible to foreign embassies, consulates, and business associations, offering them an opportunity to interact directly with Chinese companies. This creates an unrestricted platform enabling Chinese enterprises to communicate with each other.
