General Information

Short summary

A rapidly growing Greek company specializing in dried nuts and fruits, is looking for certified suppliers of soy protein crispies. The company seeks high-quality products with a protein content of 80-90% and a size ranging from 3-9mm. Bulk packaging for industrial production is required. The ideal supplier should meet IFS or BRC standards, comply with European legislation, and provide food-grade products specifically suitable for protein bars.

Full description

A leading Greek company in the import, processing, and packaging of dried nuts and fruits, is expanding its product range to include protein bars. To achieve this, we are seeking reliable suppliers of soy protein crispies to serve as a key ingredient in our snack production.

We require soy protein crispies with a high protein content ranging from 80% to 90% to ensure the nutritional value of our products. The size of the crispies should be within the range of 3-9mm, which suits our manufacturing processes. Bulk packaging is necessary to facilitate efficient and cost-effective industrial production.

Our priority is to collaborate with suppliers who hold certifications according to IFS or BRC standards. This ensures that the entire supply chain follows best practices in terms of quality, safety, and hygiene. Compliance with European legislation and permitted food limits is vital to meet our strict quality requirements.

The soy protein crispies we seek should be food grade and suitable for the snack category, specifically for protein bars. They should contribute to the natural taste and high quality of our products while adhering to European food regulations.

Advantages and innovations

By incorporating soy protein crispies into our snack production, the company aims to meet the growing demand for healthy and nutritious food options. The inclusion of high-quality protein in our protein bars offers a balanced and wholesome snack solution for modern consumers. We strive to deliver value for money products of excellent quality and taste, meeting the preferences and dietary requirements of our target market.
